

HE PAYS $5 FINE FOR WINKING AT A WOMAN

Ball Form, Says Magistrate Corigan, Even If She Lives in Same House.

"He winked at me, Your Honor," said Jeanne Pease of No. 146 West Fourth street to Magistrate Corigan in the Night Court last night in making a complaint against Walter Ruess, who was at Fourteenth street and Sixth avenue this evening and met this man, who deliberately winked at me. Then he followed me when I started home."

"It was going home, too," protested Ruess, who is a telegraph operator. "He came home to be the same as mine. We are boarders in the same establishment. I know Mrs. Pease lives there with her husband."

"It's bad form to wink at ladies," commented Magistrate Corigan. "That wink will cost you just $5."
